

There are pieces of jewellery that will never go out of style – the timeless classic is trendy again.

Rivière bracelets are becoming a must-have. Our new Rivière collection is a contemporary take on a classic style. The collection showcases perfect proportions, the highest quality and a modern style that endures.

Sleek lines and elegant curves are the hallmark of the distinctive design. The voluminous gold bracelet (available in various colours) is the ideal frame for exclusive diamonds.

All stones weighing 0.30 carats or more are GIA certified (3 x excellent) to guarantee quality.

Ever since the tennis player Chris Evert lost her Rivière bracelet during a match at the US Open in the 1980s, causing the match to be interrupted, the term “tennis bracelet” is used by many.

This is exactly what we want to create: a casual and durable bracelet that is (also) suitable to be worn during a game of tennis. At Baselworld 2016, we will also be introducing new earrings and necklaces to match the bracelet.

Although multiple diamonds are lined up next to each other, this piece of jewellery still retains a 'casual' style and is a charming companion for everyday life.
